A Wonderful New Ministry:

“FARMERS AT THE WELL” A Community Garden

Do you love to work outdoor, sowing, growing, and nurturing? Are you wanna be farmer without a plot? Good News! We are looking for a few good servants to get on the “FARMER AT THE WELL” team. The timing for this is perfect. With our first annual Festival and Bazaar quickly approaching, we are already thinking about next year.

The initial thought was CORN..well, corn for a maze for next year’s event and that opened to a flow of great ideas. We have been given an amazing location to create a community garden that will do community good all year long. There are a few members who have agreed to be part of the planning and keeping of the space. I would like to plan a meeting at some point to get a plan and lay out the space. Not being of green thumb, personally, someone else will need to take the team leader position. We have a volunteer to disc/ turn the ground for us so we can be ready for spring planting.

We are going to make this happen! Will you get on board?
